A: Karen, let's make plans for this weekend. We're going to see a movie at the theater, aren't we?

B: Yes, Mike. I've got two tickets for the latest work of my favorite series. I'm really excited to see it. What time shall we meet? The movie starts at 18:30.

A: I'm going to meet my cousin in the afternoon. We're having lunch at the Japanese restaurant near the station and going to a cat café. So, how about 18:00 at the station?

B: Fine, but don't we have to have dinner before watching the movie? A friend of mine told me that the Chinese restaurant on the first floor of the theater is excellent.

A: Right. By the way, when will we buy a birthday present for Mary? I think there is an excellent store that sells pretty stationary near the theater.

B: Maybe the store closes at 19:00, so it's impossible for us to go there after the movie.

A: Then, why don't we do the shopping before the movie? We can get some sandwiches at the food shop and have them during the movie.

B: That's a good idea. So, let's meet one hour before the movie starts.

A: Good. Bye then.
